SEVERE QUAKES KILL 18 IN ITALIAN TOWNS

MANY HOUSES CRUMBLING AT CAVAZZO, CARNICO

ENTIRE POPULATION IN VERSIGNIS REGION SPENDS NIGHT IN OPEN
MOST EXTENSIVE DAMAGE WAS CAUSED AT TOWN OF UDINE

Rome, March 28.—(UP)—Eighteen persons were killed yesterday in earthquakes which were felt in several Italian towns. More than 50 were injured.

A church at Tolmezzo was damaged by the tremors and services have been suspended, because of the danger of its collapsing.

Many houses crumbled at Cavazzo and Carnico where three persons were killed and several injured.

All houses at Versignis collapsed, causing the death of five persons. The entire population in the Versignis region spent the night in the open. Most extensive damage was caused at Udine where ten persons were killed and 40 injured.

Troops and engineers have taken charge of the situation, administering relief and guarding against pillaging.

Communication has been made extremely difficult and, it was feared today, the death toll may be increased as other towns are heard from.

London, March 28.—Earthquakes were reported from several parts of Europe yesterday. Seismographs at four observatories registered tremors. Shocks were felt at Klagenfurt, southern Austria; Munich, Germany, and in several Italian towns.

Earthquakes were registered on instruments at Kew Observatory, a small Italian observatory, Clermont, Ferrand and Strassburg, France.

MANKATO CHAMBER ATTACKS I. C. C.

SAYS INTERESTS OF NORTHWEST SHIPPERS LARGELY DISREGARDED

Mankato, Minn., March 28.—(UP)—Charging that the Interstate Commerce commission disregards interests of northwest shippers in fixing freight rates, the Mankato Chamber of Commerce today continued to follow up its first attack launched on Tuesday.

What course of procedure will be taken by the local organization was not made known today.

"The commission is either out of sympathy or has no conception of our needs," the board of directors said in a letter to the national chamber of commerce. "Economic relief for the northwest depends to a great extent upon having an equitable freight rate structure," it was declared.

It also asks investigation of functioning of the interstate commission on the basis that protests concerning northwest rates have been ignored.

Calgary, Alta., March 28.—(UP)—Edward Kenney, convicted safe cracker, was identified by Calgary police today as Robert F. Lofton, convicted murderer of Constable James Westbrook of McComb, Miss.

Lofton was identified through Bertillon records after his conviction here Tuesday on a charge of safecracking. When arrested he gave the name of Kenney.

He was sentenced to serve four years in the Prince Albert penitentiary.

Lofton escaped from the Pike county jail at McComb while being held pending his execution for the murder of Constable Westbrook.

LOVE OF 2 BROTHERS FOR THE SAME GIRL SPELLS TROUBLE

BELIEVED RESPONSIBLE FOR MURDER OF MARIE TERWILLIGER

LATTER WAS ATTRACTIVE TELEPHONE OPERATOR OF WALKILL, N. Y.

Walkill, N. Y., March 28.—(UP)—The love of two brothers for the same girl, and her choice of the younger man, was believed responsible today for the murder of Marie Terwilliger, 19, attractive village telephone operator.

Harry McHugh, the Walkill postmaster, was sought in the woods of the Walkill valley.

Miss Terwilliger was shot to death yesterday at the door of the telephone exchange. Margarte Goldsmith, her fellow operator, told how the postmaster had entered, berated them both, attacked Miss Terwilliger in a blind rage, and put three bullets in her body.

McHugh, who was 32 and a war veteran, had been fond of Marie since she was a little girl. Six months ago he quarreled violently with his brother, Jesse, 21. The younger man left home, engaged rooms in the village and took his meals with the Terwilliger family.

Village gossip said Jesse had borrowed $300 from his brother and bought the girl a diamond ring. The postmaster became moody and sulky.

Miss Terwilliger lived with her mother and father, on the second floor of the two-story building that houses the postoffice and general store. One room was used as a telephone exchange.

The mother, Mrs. Frank Terwilliger, is the chief operator of the exchange.

Miss Goldsmith's story follows: McHugh entered and asked for a pair of scissors. Then he turned on the girls and said:

"You girls are not getting a very good reputation in this town."

Miss Goldsmith angrily replied that he couldn't say anything against her character and McHugh snarled:

"Maybe not, but that other bum there—"

Then he struck Miss Terwilliger heavily in the mouth. As she fell, he leaped on her.

"Margaret, for God's sake, help me," she screamed.

Miss Goldsmith climbed out the window to the tin roof extension over the grocery store and screamed. Then she heard a shot.

With a bullet in her body, Miss Terwilliger staggered down the stairs and at the bottom, McHugh fired two more shots, both taking effect. She managed to reach the door of the grocery store and fell dead inside, at the feet of the loungers there.

'TWILIGHT SLEEP' USED ON ACCUSED POSTAL CLERK

Manila, March 28.—(UP)—"Twilight sleep" was used on an accused postal clerk here in an experiment to learn if his subconscious mind would reveal his guilt or innocence of a $10,000 theft.

Francisco Castro was the subject. It was an experiment long discussed in legal circles here and in other countries.

Scopolamine, the basic drug for "twilight sleep," was administered by physicians in an extra-judicial proceeding.

Castro readily gave his consent to be subjected to the test. It came during the course of his trial.

About 15 minutes after the drug had been administered, the subject became drowsy. He then answered questions concerning the alleged crime.

It was understood his replies closely followed evidence given in court and that he continued to profess his innocence. Physicians pronounced the experiment successful.

SHANK FORCED DOWN, STOPS ENDURANCE TRY

ST. PAUL LAW STUDENT WAS IN AIR 12 HOURS AND 7 MINUTES

THIRD ATTEMPT IN 2 WEEKS TO BREAK SUSTAINED FLIGHT RECORD

St. Paul, March 28.—(UP)—Gene Shank, law student-aviator, failed in his third attempt to break the world endurance flight record when he was forced to land at 7:21 A. M. today—12 hours and 7 minutes after taking off.

Shank took off from the St. Paul airport at 7:14 P. M. yesterday.

Dirt in one jet of the carburetor forced the landing. Four of the Wilco plane's eight cylinders were stopped when the plane was brought to the ground. Despite the difficulty, Shank fortunately was over the airport and made a perfect landing.

Undaunted by his three failures, the 22-year-old youth declared he would attempt the record-breaking flight again, probably Thursday.

In another attempt a week ago, Shank remained in the air 12 hours and 38 minutes. In a second attempt engine trouble forced him to land the plane in a swamp.

The record sought by Shank is held by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh who as a lone aviator flew 33 hours in his flight from New York to Paris. Shank also hoped to break a record for the two-man endurance flight, held by Aviators Ristetz and Edvard of Germany—52 hours and 22 minutes.

SENATOR ROCKNE ENDORSES PLATFORM OF REPUBLICANS

IN FAVOR OF ECONOMY PROGRAMS OF COOLIDGE AND CHRISTIANSON

ALSO FAVORS ST. LAWRENCE DEEP WATERWAY CANAL PROJECT

St. Paul, March 28.—(UP)—State Senator A. J. Rockne today issued a statement in which he endorsed the platform adopted last Saturday by the republicans in state convention here.

He announced himself in favor of the economy programs of President Coolidge and Gov. Theodore Christianson.

He also expressed himself in favor of the St. Lawrence deep waterway canal, declaring it would be a great boon to the agricultural industry of the northwest.

ARMY DESERTER CONFESSES SLAYING OF AN AGED WOMAN

Posoli, Mo., March 28.—(UP)—Murder of Mrs. Martha Smith, 82, of Rising Sun, Ia., whose body was found March 6 in the burned ruins of her home, has been confessed here by Dewey Doss, 27, a deserter from Fort Snelling, Minn., Washington county authorities announced.

In his confession, it was said, Doss related that after deserting he made his way to the Smith home, asked for food, and was told that "buns" were not welcome. Enraged by the remark, he struck the aged lady on the head with a revolver which accidentally discharged, killing her.

To cover up the crime, the confession continued, Doss burned the Smith home. He will be returned to Iowa, and will plead guilty, authorities said.

San Francisco—In the eyes of the law red cap porters are common carriers and therefore responsible in full for losses due to "default and negligence," the state supreme court ruled in granting Mrs. Nelita Franklin $800 for baggage lost by a red cap.

AMERICANS AIM FOR NEW MARKS IN AVIATION FIELD

ALTITUDE AND ENDURANCE RECORDS TO BE ATTACKED IN SPRING

2 SUPER-AIRPLANES NOW HOUSED AT WASHINGTON, D. C., FOR TRIALS

By HERBERT LITTLE

Washington, March 28.—American efforts to set new altitude and endurance records are planned for this spring in two super-airplanes now in the capital.

A "mystery plane" in a locked hangar at Bolling Field here is expected to be the vehicle for the endurance effort. All details of the monoplane, built by the Bellanca factory, have been kept secret, including the name of its present owner. One report said the Duponts of Delaware are backing the venture.

The plane arrived here Sunday evening, and its pilot, who gave his name as "Royal," instructed Bolling Field mechanics to allow no one near it. Maj. Davidson, field commandant, gave the flier, whom he knows as "Lieutenant Royal," permission to use the field for test flights. The plane has not yet been taken up here.

The "mystery plane" is said to have a gasoline capacity of 750 gallons—nearly twice the amount used by Col. Charles Lindbergh on his New York-to-Paris flight of 33 hours. Two of the tanks are in the wings.

It is a cabin plane, like Lindbergh's plane, and is said to be equipped with a special Wright air-cooled motor, similar to those used on distance flights last year.

The present duration record is 52 hours, 22 minutes and 31 seconds, set by two Germans. The distance record is 3,900 miles, set by Clarence Chamberlin in his flight to Kottbus, Germany.

In the altitude record field, Lieut. C. C. Champion, navy flier, who already holds the altitude record of 38,474 feet, is preparing to go up again this spring in the Wright Apache, equipped with a Pratt-Whitney 450-horsepower air-cooled Wasp motor and superchargers. This plane has been undergoing repairs all winter. Champion blew out an engine at approximately 37,000 feet and glided safely to earth, putting out four fires from broken oil lines by skillfully swerving his plane so that the rush of air extinguished them.

DRINK ALCOHOL? NO, HE POURED IT DOWN CHIMNEYS

St. Paul, March 28.—(UP)—Drink alcohol? Well Harry McCall should say not.

And that's just what he told a judge in police court when the latter inferred that he drank the stuff after begging it at filling stations. Of course the judge meant the denatured kind.

McCall waxed indignant. He explained to the court that he poured the alcohol he begged down chimneys to clean out the soot.

But the judge couldn't "see it." McCall's mail is being sent to the workhouse for 10 days.

MAGNUS JOHNSON FAVORS MOVEMENT AND SEN. NORRIS

"NO CLEANER, ABLER, STRONGER MAN THAN NORRIS," SAYS JOHNSON

PARTY PLATFORM URGES IMMEDIATE PASSAGE OF McNARY-HAUGEN BILL

By JACK F. HIERTZ

(United Press Staff Correspondent) St. Paul, March 28.—Farmer-laborite leaders of twelve northwestern states met here today in a conference which it was believed might result in the formation of a third party, with U. S. Senator George W. Norris, Nebraska republican, as its presidential candidate.

The third party movement gained considerable impetus at the Minnesota state convention of the farmer-laborite party here yesterday.

Magnus Johnson, former senator, urged convention delegates to get solidly behind a third party movement and back Senator Norris for president.

"There is no cleaner, stronger or abler man in the United States today," Johnson said.

The movement was based on the hope Norris might be induced to leave the republican ranks and head the new party, as did the late Sen. Robert M. LaFollette of Wisconsin in 1924.

The party platform adopted by the convention delegates urged support of the St. Lawrence waterway and transportation on the Mississippi as long as barges were owned by the government; agitation for legislation to reclassify taxable property to force a greater share of the burden on the wealthy class; immediate passage of the McNary-Haugen bill, and protection for the wage earners against "exploitation of the privileged class."

The convention endorsed U. S. Sen. Henrik Shipstead, Minnesota farmer-laborite, for re-election.

FLOOD WATERS LAP LEVEE OF FEATHER RIVER

HUNDREDS OF MEN WORK FRANTICALLY TO REINFORCE DYKE

THOUSANDS OF ACRES OF RICH LOWLANDS IN CALIFORNIA THREATENED

Sacramento, Cal., March 28.—(UP)—Hundreds of men worked frantically to reinforce the east levee of the Feather river between Nicolaus and Verona in Sutter county today.

Flood waters of the river lapped perilously near the top of the dyke, which momentarily threatened to give way and permit the inundation of thousands of acres of rich agricultural lowlands.

The causeway across the Feather river at Nicolaus was washed out early last night and the turbulent waters continued to rise rapidly.

Workers who had been strengthening other levees in the district were transferred to the Feather river levee, which guards the Natoma reclamation district No. 1001.

The area threatened consists of dairy ranches, farms and orchards and is one of the richest agricultural districts in the state of California.

Residents of the districts were warned of the danger to the levee and were ready to leave their homes on a moment's notice.

If the levee breaks it is feared the flood may inundate the entire 50,000 acres in the basin, as the water would have no other outlet.

In other parts of northern California and Nevada which were swept by floods caused by torrential rains the water was slowly receding today.

FARMER FALLS FROM 70 FOOT WINDMILL TOWER

Albert Lea, Minn., March 28.—(UP)—Falling from a 70-foot windmill tower, A. H. Sibilrud, farmer, was killed at his home here late yesterday.

THREATS OF NEW BOMBINGS MADE IN CHICAGO

CHARGES AND THEN COUNTER CHARGES OF VIOLENCE BY RIVAL FACTIONS

MULTITUDE OF INVESTIGATIONS SERVES TO INCREASE THE TURMOIL

By C. C. NICOLET

(United Press Staff Correspondent) Chicago, March 28.—Threats of new bombings, charges and counter charges of violence by rival political factions and a multitude of investigations into the bombings of the homes of U. S. Senator Charles S. Deneen and Judge John J. Swanson served only to increase today the turmoil and confusion of Chicago's political war.

Thoroughly alarmed, the city prepared for new outbreaks of violence from now until the primary April 10. It seemed certain that the remaining two weeks of the campaign would be a political war with bombs and bullets.

Another bombing occurred shortly after midnight. A beer pump concern, owned by Emil Selter, was wrecked by a black powder bomb.

Although police were inclined to link the bombing with the beer and alky war, rumors spread that Selter was bombed because he recently refused to permit political posters to be placed in the windows of his store. The rumors could not be confirmed.

Nevertheless, the bombing—the 62nd in five months—caused considerable alarm on the south side of the city and forecasted continued violence.

Meanwhile the following events occurred:

Joseph Savage, candidate for committeeman from the 25th ward, was threatened with death in a letter which was signed "friends of Diamond Joe." "Diamond Joe" Esposito, until he was ambushed and slain last Wednesday night, was the leader of the 25th—the old "bloody nineteenth"—and was a favorite over Savage in the committeeman's race.

Savage was protected today by a bodyguard, and the homes of forty other political leaders, federal, state and city officials were guarded against further bombing attacks.

Rewards totalling $65,000 were offered by police and leaders of the Thompson-Crowe-Barrett republican faction for arrest and conviction of the bombers of the Deneen and Swanson homes.

Unfavorable Weather Prevents Flight of the 'Bremen'

London, March 28.—(UP)—Only unfavorable weather reports are preventing the Junkers airplane "Bremen" from leaving on a trans-Atlantic flight attempt. Baron Von Huenefeld told the United Press in a long distance telephone conversation from Baldonnell Field, Dublin, today.

"We have not decided yet when we will start. The start awaits weather reports and they are still unfavorable," Von Huenefeld said. "Everything is ready. We are in the best of spirits."

He added that reports saying they were carrying a large supply of food were untrue. Their food consists mainly of bread and tea.

20 PEOPLE HURT IN RAIL WRECK

New York, March 28.—(UP)—Twenty persons were injured when a Long Island railroad train was wrecked today in Sunnysides, Queens.

An electric locomotive and five cars left the rails. Six hundred persons who were on the train were thrown from their seats and shaken up.

The track was torn up for about 25 feet when the tender of the train's second locomotive leaped off the rails 20 feet south of a viaduct.

COMMISSION INVESTIGATES ST. FRANCIS DAM

FOUNDATIONS DEFECTIVE, AS IT WAS NOT BUILT UPON SOUND BEDROCK

RECOMMENDS DAMS BE BUILT, MAINTAINED UNDER STATE SUPERVISION

Sacramento, Cal., March 28.—(UP)—The blame for the breaking of St. Francis Dam and resulting loss of life now rests with the constructors of the construction.

After conducting a thorough investigation into the breaking of the dam, a commission, appointed by Gov. C. C. Young, announced the following reasons for the dam's collapse:

1. The failure of the dam was caused by defective foundations, as it was not built upon sound bedrock.

2. It was not indicated by the investigation that the accepted theory of gravity dam design was in error or that there was any question about the safety of concrete dams designed in accordance with that theory when built upon even ordinarily sound bedrock.

3. All such dams whose collapse would result in serious loss of life should be erected and maintained under the supervision and control of state authorities.

4. The state should maintain strict police guard over dams of that nature where any considerable quantity of water is stored.

William Mulholland, aged chief engineer of the water department, who supervised the building of the dam, yesterday took full responsibility for the collapse of the structure.

"Fasten it on me if there has been any error in human judgment," Mulholland cried at the coroner's inquest. "I was the human."

"I want to help you. I want to take my medicine like a man if there is any medicine to be taken. If there must be a human to blame for the failure of that dam, then I accept full responsibility."

NEWSPAPERMAN HELD AT TORONTO

WAS INDICTED AT ST. PAUL ON CHARGES OF USING MAIL TO DEFRAUD

St. Paul, March 28.—(UP)—Arthur Lorenz, former editor of the St. Paul Volkszeitung, German language newspaper, and indicted here on charges of using the mails to defraud in connection with C. A. Cochran's enterprises, is held by police at Toronto, Ont., federal authorities here were informed today.

Lorenz, it was learned, was using the alias of Lewis.

His activities in connection with Cochran's recent financial exploits were referred to several times during the federal court trial here which ended two weeks ago, with Cochran, Andrew E. Nelson and eight others being convicted and sentenced to federal penitentiary terms for their activities.

Lorenz will be returned to St. Paul late this week and arraignment will be arranged, it was indicated.

MURDER MYSTERY LEAVES AUTHORITIES AT NEWARK PUZZLED

Newark, N. J., March 28.—(UP)—A murder mystery that left authorities puzzled was discovered today when the bodies of Frank S. Warren, president of the Chamber of Commerce, his wife and son were found in their burning home.

The boy, Jackson, 12, had been shot through the heart.

The parents were found in their bedroom, where the fire centered. The bodies were so burned that it was impossible to tell at first whether they had been shot.

Police believed all three were killed by an intruder, or that one of the parents killed the other two in the family and committed suicide.

Warren was one of the town's most prosperous men. Police were informed that he had been speculating heavily and might have been caught in the recent wild fluctuations of the New York stock market.

The present duration record is 52 hours, 22 minutes and 31 seconds, set by two Germans. The distance record is 3,900 miles, set by Clarence Chamberlin in his flight to Kottbus, Germany.

In the altitude record field, Lieut. C. C. Champion, navy flyer, who already holds the altitude record of 38,474 feet, is preparing to go up again this spring in the Wright Apache, equipped with a Pratt-Whitney 450-horsepower air-cooled Wasp motor and superchargers. This plane has been undergoing repairs all winter. Champion blew out an engine at approximately 37,000 feet and glided safely to earth, putting out four fires from broken oil lines by skillfully swerving his plane so that the rush of air extinguished them.

DRINK ALCOHOL? NO, HE POURED IT DOWN CHIMNEYS

St. Paul, March 28.—(UP)—Drink alcohol? Well Harry McCall should say not.

And that's just what he told a judge in police court when the latter inferred that he drank the stuff after begging it at filling stations. Of course the judge meant the denatured kind.

McCall waxed indignant. He explained to the court that he poured the alcohol he begged down chimneys to clean out the soot.

But the judge couldn't "see it." McCall's mail is being sent to the workhouse for 10 days.

MAGNUS JOHNSON FAVORS MOVEMENT AND SEN. NORRIS

"NO CLEANER, ABLER, STRONGER MAN THAN NORRIS," SAYS JOHNSON

PARTY PLATFORM URGES IMMEDIATE PASSAGE OF McNARY-HAUGEN BILL

By JACK F. HIERTZ (United Press Staff Correspondent)

St. Paul, March 28.—Farmer-laborite leaders of twelve northwestern states met here today in a conference which it was believed might result in the formation of a third party, with U. S. Senator George W. Norris, Nebraska republican, as its presidential candidate.

The third party movement gained considerable impetus at the Minnesota state convention of the farmer-laborite party here yesterday.

Magnus Johnson, former senator, urged convention delegates to get solidly behind a third party movement and back Senator Norris for president.

"There is no cleaner, stronger or abler man in the United States today," Johnson said.

The movement was based on the hope Norris might be induced to leave the republican ranks and head the new party, as did the late Sen. Robert M. LaFollette of Wisconsin in 1924.

The party platform adopted by the convention delegates urged support of the St. Lawrence waterway and transportation on the Mississippi as long as barges were owned by the government, agitation for legislation to reclassify taxable property to force a greater share of the burden on the wealthy class, immediate passage of the McNary-Haugen bill, and protection for the wage earners against "exploitation of the privileged class."

The convention endorsed U. S. Sen. Henrik Shipstead, Minnesota farmer-laborite, for re-election.

FLOOD WATERS LAP LEVEE OF FEATHER RIVER

HUNDREDS OF MEN WORK FRANTICALLY TO REINFORCE DYKE

THOUSANDS OF ACRES OF RICH LOWLANDS IN CALIFORNIA THREATENED

Sacramento, Cal., March 28.—(UP)—Hundreds of men worked frantically to reinforce the east levee of the Feather river between Nicolaus and Verona in Sutter county today.

Flood waters of the river lapped perilously near the top of the dyke, which momentarily threatened to give way and permit the inundation of thousands of acres of rich agricultural lowlands.

The causeway across the Feather river at Nicolaus was washed out early last night and the turbulent waters continued to rise rapidly.

Workers who had been strengthening other levees in the district were transferred to the Feather river levee, which guards the Natoma reclamation district No. 1001.

The area threatened consists of dairy ranches, farms and orchards and is one of the richest agricultural districts in the state of California.

Residents of the districts were warned of the danger to the levee and were ready to leave their homes on a moment's notice.

If the levee breaks it is feared the flood may inundate the entire 50,000 acres in the basin, as the water would have no other outlet.

In other parts of northern California and Nevada which were swept by floods caused by torrential rains the water was slowly receding today.

FARMER FALLS FROM 70 FOOT WINDMILL TOWER

Albert Lea, Minn., March 28.—(UP)—Falling from a 70-foot windmill tower, A. H. Sibilrud, farmer, was killed at his home here late yesterday.

THREATS OF NEW BOMBINGS MADE IN CHICAGO

CHARGES AND THEN COUNTER CHARGES OF VIOLENCE BY RIVAL FACTIONS

MULTITUDE OF INVESTIGATIONS SERVES TO INCREASE THE TURMOIL

By C. C. NICOLET (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Chicago, March 28.—Threats of new bombings, charges and counter charges of violence by rival political factions and a multitude of investigations into the bombings of the homes of U. S. Senator Charles S. Deneen and Judge John J. Swanson served only to increase today the turmoil and confusion of Chicago's political war.

Thoroughly alarmed, the city prepared for new outbreaks of violence from now until the primary April 10. It seemed certain that the remaining two weeks of the campaign would be a political war with bombs and bullets.

Another bombing occurred shortly after midnight. A beer pump concern, owned by Emil Selter, was wrecked by a black powder bomb.

Although police were inclined to link the bombing with the beer and alkali war, rumors spread that Selter was bombed because he recently refused to permit political posters to be placed in the windows of his store. The rumors could not be confirmed.

Nevertheless, the bombing—the 62nd in five months—caused considerable alarm on the south side of the city and forecasted continued violence.

Meanwhile the following events occurred:

Joseph Savage, candidate for committeeman from the 25th ward, was threatened with death in a letter which was signed "Friends of Diamond Joe." "Diamond Joe" Espino, until he was ambushed and slain last Wednesday night, was the leader of the 25th—the old "bloody nineteenth"—and was a favorite over Savage in the committeeman's race.

Savage was protected today by a bodyguard, and the homes of forty other political leaders, federal, state and city officials were guarded against further bombing attacks.

Rewards totalling $65,000 were offered by police and leaders of the Thompson-Crowe-Barrett republican faction for arrest and conviction of the bombers of the Deneen and Swanson homes.

Unfavorable Weather Prevents Flight of the 'Bremen'

London, March 28.—(UP)—Only unfavorable weather reports are preventing the Junkers airplane "Bremen" from leaving on a trans-Atlantic flight attempt, Baron Von Huenefeld told the United Press in a long distance telephone conversation from Baldonnel Field, Dublin, today.

"We have not decided yet when we will start. The start awaits weather reports and they are still unfavorable," Von Huenefeld said. "Everything is ready. We are in the best of spirits."

He added that reports saying they were carrying a large supply of food were untrue. Their food consists mainly of bread and tea.

20 PEOPLE HURT IN RAIL WRECK

New York, March 28.—(UP)—Twenty persons were injured when a Long Island railroad train was wrecked today in Sunnysides, Queens.

An electric locomotive and five cars left the rails. Six hundred persons who were on the train were thrown from their seats and shaken up.

The track was torn up for about 25 feet when the tender of the train's second locomotive leaped off the rails 20 feet south of a viaduct.

COMMISSION INVESTIGATES ST. FRANCIS DAM

FOUNDATIONS DEFECTIVE, AS IT WAS NOT BUILT UPON SOUND BEDROCK

RECOMMENDS DAMS BE BUILT, MAINTAINED UNDER STATE SUPERVISION

Sacramento, Cal., March 28.—(UP)—The blame for the breaking of St. Francis Dam and resulting loss of life now rests with the constructors of the construction.

After conducting a thorough investigation into the breaking of the dam, a commission, appointed by Gov. C. C. Young, announced the following reasons for the dam's collapse:

1. The failure of the dam was caused by defective foundations, as it was not built upon sound bedrock.

2. It was not indicated by the investigation that the accepted theory of gravity dam design was in error or that there was any question about the safety of concrete dams designed in accordance with that theory when built upon even ordinarily sound bedrock.

3. All such dams whose collapse would result in serious loss of life should be erected and maintained under the supervision and control of state authorities.

4. The state should maintain strict police guard over dams of that nature where any considerable quantity of water is stored.

William Mulholland, aged chief engineer of the water department, who supervised the building of the dam, yesterday took full responsibility for the collapse of the structure.

"Fasten it on me if there has been any error in human judgment," Mulholland cried at the coroner's inquest. "I was the human."

"I want to help you. I want to take my medicine like a man if there is any medicine to be taken. If there must be a human to blame for the failure of that dam, then I accept full responsibility."

NEWSPAPERMAN HELD AT TORONTO

WAS INDICTED AT ST. PAUL ON CHARGES OF USING MAILS TO DEFRAUD

St. Paul, March 28.—(UP)—Arthur Lorenz, former editor of the St. Paul Volkszeitung, German language newspaper, and indicted here on charges of using the mails to defraud in connection with C. A. Cochran's enterprises, is held by police at Toronto, Ont., federal authorities here were informed today.

Lorenz, it was learned, was using the alias of Lewis.

His activities in connection with Cochran's recent financial exploits were referred to several times during the federal court trial here which ended two weeks ago, with Cochran, Andrew E. Nelson and eight others being convicted and sentenced to federal penitentiary terms for their activities.

Lorenz will be returned to St. Paul late this week and arraignment will be arranged, it was indicated.

MURDER MYSTERY LEAVES AUTHORITIES AT NEWARK PUZZLED

Newark, N. J., March 28.—(UP)—A murder mystery that left authorities puzzled was discovered today when the bodies of Frank S. Warren, president of the Chamber of Commerce, his wife and son were found in their burning home.

The boy, Jackson, 12, had been shot through the heart. The parents were found in their bedroom, where the fire centered. The bodies were so burned that it was impossible to tell at first whether they had been shot.

Police believed all three were killed by an intruder, or that one of the parents killed the other two in the family and committed suicide.

Warren was one of the town's most prosperous men. Police were informed that he had been speculating heavily and might have been caught in the recent wild fluctuations of the New York stock market.

Why pay $1000 more...when
CHRYSLER "72"
at $1545

gives you greater performance

Illustrious New Chrysler "72" performance out-Christlers even Chrysler. It has jolted the public's preconceived notions of what its money should be able to buy.

Here is a truly marvelous car, in body styles priced from $1545 to $1795, which gives in performance all and more than you have been led to expect from cars costing $1000 more.

Here is a Chrysler triumph that overshadows the foremost accomplishments of the industry.

72 miles and more per hour. 75 brake horsepower. Acceleration that leaves every other car behind. Vibrationless smoothness that only a Chrysler counterweighted 7-bearing crankshaft can give.

Experience for yourself the thrill of this brilliant performance. Chrysler enthusiasm invariably follows the realization that even $1000 more than "72" prices does not get you as much in performance, in quality, in style, in value.

Illustrious New "72" Prices —Two-passenger Coupe (with rumble seat), $1545; Royal Sedan, $1595; Sport Roadster (with rumble seat), $1595; Four-passenger Coupe, $1595; Town Sedan, $1695; Convertible Coupe (with rumble seat), $1745; Crown Sedan, $1795. SAFE BURNING OF UNCUT MEADOWS

Forest Ranger E. H. Rhodes Urges
Slash, Field Burning
Before April 1

MANY DO SPRING BURNING

No Checkup Will be Made on Burning Permits Until After First
of Next Month

With the snow gone from the open meadows and while there is still snow in the woods, it is an ideal time to burn off any uncut meadows that will be used for hay the coming season. In most cases, meadows are dry enough so that they will burn over very readily, and yet fires will not spread to high ground.

A great number of farmers have already done their spring burning, and do not have to worry about fires sweeping in on them later in the season when timber would be damaged or when there would be danger of the starting of peat fires.

The district ranger, E. H. Rhodes, urges that all burning of meadows and old slash, be done by April 1, as far as possible. Special notices have been sent to each of the operators who have old slash which is hazardous to adjoining property.

Burning permits are required any time the ground is not snow-covered but no check-up will be made on permits, until April 1, unless it be in case where hay or other property is destroyed.

Lyceum to Show Giantic Movie "Les Miserables"

The Universal-Film de France production has been secured by the Lyceum theatre for local showing beginning tomorrow.

This picture, produced by the Societe des Cineromans of Paris is of epic proportions. It is said to have taken more than two years to produce at a cost running into millions of francs.

Audiences at the Lyceum today are getting a hilarious new angle on what happens behind the scenes in our leading educational institutions. And, incidentally, they are discovering why pretty co-eds prefer the athletic rah! rah! boys to the brainy lads who are sharks in calculus but who can't figure out how many forward passes make a touchdown.

Buster Keaton provides the enlightenment in his spectacular United Artists comedy, "College," which has its final showings at the Lyceum tonight.

ATTEMPT ENDURANCE

FLIGHT AT 7:36 A. M.

Jacksonville, Fla., March 28. —(UP)—Transferring their endeavors from Michigan to Florida, George Haldean and Eddie Stinson began an endurance flight attempt at 7:36 A. M. here today.

The two fliers used a Stinson-Detroit monoplane carrying 550 gallons of gasoline, which they hoped would keep them aloft for 60 hours. The record is slightly more than 52 hours.

Haldean and Stinson planned to fly over Jacksonville beach and the nearby Florida coast during the attempt. They were to alternate at the controls.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce has offered a $5,000 prize to the two if they set a new record.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

The Christening of Brainerd

NOTE—Crow Wing County Historical society series. Send remittances of early days to S. R. Adair, president or to L. B. Kinder, historian.

Brainerd was founded in 1870, its site being determined by the Northern Pacific railroad adopting the survey crossing the Mississippi. Crow Wing expected to get the railroad but C. E. Beaulieu who owned the Crow Wing townsite asked too much. The company had made surveys at Crow Wing, where Pine River enters the Mississippi and where Brainerd now is. Beaulieu thought the other surveys were merely bluffs and that the railroad had to come to Crow Wing. He did not realize that railroads can make towns. "The History of the Upper Mississippi River Valley" thus describes Brainerd's location.

"The Brainerd crossing was determined in June, 1870. Shortly after the surveying party had come to the site, several men in Little Falls formed a temporary company and sent part of their number up the river to secure the ground for a townsite, at the place where the surveying party should determine to cross the river. Preceding to Crow Wing by wagon, thence in canoes, they reached the point about the time the surveyors were completing their work. Under pretext of hunting, they remained nearby until the surveyors left, then located and marked out a claim embracing what they deemed sufficient for a town and railroad purposes. Then they returned to Little Falls, and soon a part of the company visited the claim and constructed two or three temporary residences and divided the ground, each member being assigned his part. Some of these were evidently sold to Mrs. Hester Gilman, who entered part of the present site of Brainerd, the patent bearing the date of record, December 10, 1870. The same record shows a transfer of her rights to the Lake Superior and Puget Sound Company on August 13, 1870. The remaining members of the original claimants sold their interests to the same company. About this time Charles Darby "jumped" a portion of the townsite not included in Mrs. Gilman's claim, and built the first house of round logs, completed as a permanent dwelling, near the ground now occupied by the railroad shops. Soon after, he also sold to the Lake Superior and Puget Sound Co."

Ordinarily new towns were located on the side of the river adjacent to the new country. Why then was Brainerd built upon the East side of the Mississippi? The tradition is that three Ahrens brothers, (after whom Ahrens Hill is named) were watching the railroad surveys. One was stationed in Duluth, the two others followed the surveyors. Upon learning that the Brainerd crossing had been chosen by the railroad one of the Ahrens staked out claims on the west side of the river while the other hurried by the Mille Lacs trail to his brother in Duluth who at once pre-empted the land. Like Beaulieu the Ahrens fancied they could get their own terms from the railroad but the Northern Pacific officials who were themselves speculating in townsites under the name of the Lake Superior and Puget Sound Company, located the townsite on the east side of the river.

Brainerd was organized as a city on March 6, 1873, lapsed into a town by legislative act on January 11, 1876 and again became a city on November 19, 1881. The Northern Pacific ran its first train into Brainerd on March 11, 1871, and regular passenger service began in the following September. The first passenger train from the Twin Cities via Sauk Rapids came November 1, 1877.

Brainerd was first known by the Chippewas as "Oski-odena" (the New Town) and by the whites as the "Crossing." When the time came to name it "Ogenauqua" was first suggested in honor of Emma Beaulieu, whom the Indians for her beauty named "The Queen." Instead, however, it was called "Brainerd," the maiden name of Mrs. J. Gregory Smith, wife of the first president of the Northern Pacific. Mrs. Smith was born at St. Albans, Vt., October 7, 1819 and died there January 6, 1905. The following sketch of her is given in Minnesota Geographic Names published by the State Historical society.

"Mrs. Ann Eliza (Brainerd) Smith was a daughter of Hon. Lawrence Brainerd, of St. Albans, Vt. Her husband, John Gregory Smith (B. 1818, D. 1891), also a resident of St. Albans, honored by the name of Gregory Park in Brainerd and by Gregory station and village in Morrison county, was governor of Vermont, 1863-65; was president of the Northern Pacific company, 1866-72; and later was president of the Vermont Central railroad until his death. Mrs. Smith was author of novels, books of travel, and other works. Her father, Lawrence Brainerd (B. 1794, D. 1870) was a director of the St. Albans Steamboat Company, a builder and officer of railroads in northern Vermont, a noted abolitionist, and was a United States senator, 1854-5.

Portraits of Mrs. Smith, for whom Brainerd was named, and her father, with extended biographic notices, are in "The Genealogy of the Brainerd-Family in America" (three volumes, published in 1908). The biographic sketch of her is in Volume II, pages 162-3, from which the following is quoted: "She was president of the board of managers for the Vermont woman's exhibit at the Centennial Exposition of 1876, at Philadelphia, and was frequently chosen in similar capacities as a representative Vermont woman. Her patriotic feeling was shown in the Civil war, at the rebel raid on St. Albans and the plunder of the banks, Oct. 19, 1864, and a commission as Lieutenant-Colonel was issued to her for gallantry and efficient service on that occasion by Adjutant General P. T. Washburn."

Brainerd, you see, bears a most honorable name—and bears it honorably. Ann Eliza Brainerd's descendants may well be proud of our snug, little city, her namesake.

PASSENGER SERVICE BY AIR BETWEEN TWIN CITIES, ROCHESTER

St. Paul, March 28. —(UP)—Passenger service by air on regular schedule between the Twin Cities and Rochester, Minn., soon will be a reality, according to the Jefferson Highway Transportation Co., which has purchased from the Ford Motor Co., one of their Ford-Stout all-metal tri-motored 14-passenger planes. The plane cost $45,000, according to Edgar F. Zelle, president of the company.

Service from the Twin Cities to Rochester will be established in June, it was announced. The flying time will be about 45 minutes, and the fare to be charged has not yet been arranged.

KING WINTER'S LATEST STAMPEDE AGAINST SPRING

St. Paul, March 28. —(UP)—King Winter's latest stampede against dainty Miss Spring will be in the form of wind, snow and rain all of which are expected to arrive in Minnesota at about the same time today.

Weather predictions declare that wind of gale proportions will sweep over most of the state before night, carrying on its crest snow for the northern sections, and rain or snow for the southern areas.

Spring is due to come back, however, the prediction holding that warmer weather is just around the corner.

New York — Mrs. W. W. Webb drew 13 hearts in an auction bridge game. After she was doubled on a four-heart bid, she redoubled and made 824 points.

Baker, Ore. — Olaf Johnson, 75, was buried here in a casket which he made five years ago with his own hands, and in a cemetery lot which he bought for that purpose 23 years ago.

Turn Hair Dark With Sage Tea

By JEAN MACON

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grand-mother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product for only 75 cents, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive.

"Red Pepper Rub" is the cold remedy that brings quickest relief. It cannot hurt you and it certainly seems to end the tightness and drive the congestion and soreness right out.

Nothing has such concentrated, penetrating heat as red peppers, and when heat penetrates right down into colds, congestion, aching muscles and sore, stiff joints relief comes at once.

The moment you apply Red Pepper Rub you feel the tingling heat. In three minutes the congested spot is warmed through and through. When you are suffering from a cold, rheumatism, backache, stiff neck or sore muscles, just get a jar of Rowles Red Pepper Rub, made from red peppers, at any drug store. You will have the quickest relief known. Always say "Rowles."

SAFE BURNING OF UNCUT MEADOWS

Forest Ranger E. H. Rhodes Urges
Slash, Field Burning
Before April 1

MANY DO SPRING BURNING

No Checkup Will be Made on Burning Permits Until After First
of Next Month

With the snow gone from the open meadows and while there is still snow in the woods, it is an ideal time to burn off any uncut meadows that will be used for hay the coming season. In most cases, meadows are dry enough so that they will burn over very readily, and yet fires will not spread to high ground.

A great number of farmers have already done their spring burning, and do not have to worry about fires sweeping in on them later in the season when timber would be damaged or when there would be danger of the starting of peat fires.

The district ranger, E. H. Rhodes urges that all burning of meadows and old slash, be done by April 1, as far as possible. Special notices have been sent to each of the operators who have old slash which is hazardous to adjoining property.

Burning permits are required anytime the ground is not snow-covered but no check-up will be made on permits, until April 1, unless it be in case where hay or other property is destroyed.

Lyceum to Show Gigantic Movie "Les Miserables"

The Universal-Film de France production has been secured by the Lyceum theatre for local showing beginning tomorrow.

This picture, produced by the Societe des Cineromans de Paris is of epic proportions. It is said to have taken more than two years to produce at a cost running into millions of francs.

Audiences at the Lyceum today are getting a hilarious new angle on what happens behind the scenes in our leading educational institutions. And, incidentally, they are discovering why pretty co-eds prefer the athletic rah! rah! boys to the brainy lads who are sharks in calculus but who can't figure out how many forward passes make a touchdown.

Buster Keaton provides the enlightenment in his spectacular United Artists comedy, "College," which has its final showings at the Lyceum tonight.

Store Basement

A corner of the shiny box partly protruding from the sand in the unfinished part of the basement under the sidewalk in the J. C. Penney Co. store at Little Falls led to the discovery yesterday of the money box containing $42.30, part of the money missing since the time of the robbery on February 23.

The money box was found by a clerk, Mike Karnowski, who unearthed it after he had moved a packing box stored there. Of the total money taken, all has been recovered with the exception of $128.95, it is reported. Part of the money was recovered when a mailman found a roll of bills and checks in a mailbox.

HALDEMAN, STINSON

ATTEMPT ENDURANCE
FLIGHT AT 7:36 A. M.

Jacksonville, Fla., March 28.—(UP)—Transferring their endeavors from Michigan to Florida, George Haldean and Eddie Stinson began an endurance flight attempt at 7:36 A. M. here today.

The two fliers used a Stinson-Detroit monoplane carrying 550 gallons of gasoline, which they hoped would keep them aloft for 60 hours. The record is slightly more than 52 hours.

Haldean and Stinson planned to fly over Jacksonville beach and the nearby Florida coast during the attempt. They were to alternate at the controls.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce has offered a $5,000 prize to the two if they set a new record.

Gibbstown, N. J.—Walter Mullen presented a $6,000 organ to the town when the Methodist church refused it because of the cost of installation.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

The Christening of Brainerd

NOTE—Crown Wing County Historical society series. Send reminiscences of early days to S. R. Adair, president or to L. B. Kinder, historian.

Brainerd was founded in 1870, its site being determined by the Northern Pacific railroad adopting the survey crossing the Mississippi. Crown Wing expected to get the railroad but C. E. Beaulieu who owned the Crown Wing townsite asked too much. The company had made surveys at Crown Wing, where Pine River enters the Mississippi and where Brainerd now is. Beaulieu thought the other surveys were merely bluffs and that the railroad had to come to Crown Wing. He did not realize that railroads can make towns. "The History of the Upper Mississippi River Valley" thus describes Brainerd's location.

"The Brainerd crossing was determined in June, 1870. Shortly after the surveying party had come to the site, several men in Little Falls formed a temporary company and sent part of their number up the river to secure the ground for a townsite, at the place where the surveying party should determine to cross the river. Preceding to Crown Wing by wagon, thence in canoes, they reached the point about the time the surveyors were completing their work. Under pretext of hunting, they remained nearby until the surveyors left, then located and marked out a claim embracing what they deemed sufficient for a town and railroad purposes. Then they returned to Little Falls, and soon a part of the company visited the claim and constructed two or three temporary residences and divided the ground, each member being assigned his part. Some of these were evidently sold to Mrs. Hester Gilman, who entered part of the present site of Brainerd, the patent bearing the date of record, December 10, 1870. The same record shows a transfer of her rights to the Lake Superior and Puget Sound Company on August 13, 1870. The remaining members of the original claimants sold their interests to the same company. About this time Charles Darby "jumped" a portion of the townsite not included in Mrs. Gilman's claim, and built the first house of round logs, completed as a permanent dwelling, near the ground now occupied by the railroad shops. Soon after, he also sold to the Lake Superior and Puget Sound Co."

Ordinarily new towns were located on the side of the river adjacent to the new country. Why then was Brainerd built upon the East side of the Mississippi? The tradition is that three Ahrens brothers, (after whom Ahrens Hill is named) were watching the railroad surveys. One was stationed in Duluth, the two others followed the surveyors. Upon learning that the Brainerd crossing had been chosen by the railroad one of the Ahrens staked out claims on the west side of the river while the other hurried by the Mill Lake trail to his brother in Duluth who at once pre-empted the land. Like Beaulieu the Ahrens fancied they could get their own terms from the railroad but the Northern Pacific officials who were themselves speculating in townsites under the name of the Lake Superior and Puget Sound Company, located the townsite on the east side of the river.

Brainerd was organized as a city on March 6, 1873, lapsed into a town by legislative act on January 11, 1876 and again became a city on November 19, 1881. The Northern Pacific ran its first train into Brainerd on March 11, 1871, and regular passenger service began in the following September. The first passenger train from the Twin Cities via Sauk Rapids came November 1, 1877.

Brainerd was first known by the Chippewas as "Oski-odena" (the New Town) and by the whites as the "Crossing." When the time came to name it "Ogenagua" was first suggested in honor of Emma Beaulieu, whom the Indians for her beauty named "The Queen." Instead, however, it was called "Brainerd," the maiden name of Mrs. J. Gregory Smith, wife of the first president of the Northern Pacific. Mrs. Smith was born at St. Albans, Vt., October 7, 1819 and died there January 6, 1905. The following sketch of her is given in Minnesota Geographic Names published by the State Historical society.

"Mrs. Ann Eliza (Brainerd) Smith was a daughter of Hon. Lawrence Brainerd, of St. Albans, Vt. Her husband, John Gregory Smith (B. 1818, D. 1891), also a resident of St. Albans, honored by the name of Gregory Park in Brainerd and by Gregory station and village in Morrison county, was governor of Vermont, 1863-65; was president of the Northern Pacific company, 1866-72; and later was president of the Vermont Central railroad until his death. Mrs. Smith was author of novels, books of travel, and other works. Her father, Lawrence Brainerd (B. 1794, D. 1870) was a director of the St. Albans Steamboat Company, a builder and officer of railroads in northern Vermont, a noted abolitionist, and was a United States senator, 1854-5.

Portraits of Mrs. Smith, for whom Brainerd was named, and her father, with extended biographic notices, are in "The Genealogy of the Brainerd-Family in America" (three volumes, published in 1908). The biographic sketch of her is in Volume II, pages 162-3, from which the following is quoted: "She was president of the board of managers for the Vermont woman's exhibit at the Centennial Exposition of 1876, at Philadelphia, and was frequently chosen in similar capacities as a representative Vermont woman. Her patriotic feeling was shown in the Civil war, at the rebel raid on St. Albans and the plunder of the banks, Oct. 19, 1864, and a commission as Lieutenant-Colonel was issued to her for gallantry and efficient service on that occasion by Adjutant General P. T. Washburn."

Brainerd, you see, bears a most honorable name—and bears it honorably. Ann Eliza Brainerd's descendants may well be proud of our snug, little city, her namesake.

IOWA OUT OF THE MUD

SOME years ago middlewest fans attended a football game and on the way home it rained in Iowa. The result was gumbo mud in disheartening quantities and a line of cars, miles and miles in length, mired and their owners took to farm houses and barns awaiting a chance to dig out their cars.

At that time Minnesota was far beyond Iowa in the matter of good roads. Today we look at Iowa in amazement. They are so far ahead of Minnesota plans that all we can do is to gasp and wonder if we shall ever catch up.

Iowa people are to vote on a $100,000,000 road bond plan at the general election next November. The proposed plan, if adopted by the voters, will give Iowa 4,933 miles of paved highway and permit grading and graveling the remaining 1,732 miles in the state system. It is expected that this work will be finished within six years. Thus the present generation will have a chance to use these roads. It will give Iowa a primary road system adequate to carry the traffic for many years to come. Gasoline and license taxes will all go into a fund to retire the bonds, except the amount which is needed each year for maintenance.

Iowa already has let contracts for 630 miles of paving, 500 miles of grading and 307 miles of graveling for the season of 1928, to be financed with county bonds.

No more pitying smiles for Iowa, no more comments about gumbo roads. The state we pitied is now out-stripping Minnesota in good roads.

HOWE KNEW HOW

E. W. HOWE, a nationally known reporter, and who worked on the Atchison Globe as far back as 1878, relates an incident showing the fertility of mind and resourcefulness of a newspaper man when facing great odds.

"Last night a large man with a squint in his eye came into this office and inquired if the editor was in. We were alone, and he was an exceedingly large man—and there was a certain nervousness about his manner of speech that we didn't like.

"So we said the editor wasn't in but we would step downstairs and call him. He dropped in a chair, and we went down stairs. On the stairs we met another very large man, who had the same nervousness in his speech. He wanted to know if the editor was upstairs. We told him the editor was upstairs reading a paper and was exceedingly cross.

"He went into the office—and in a few moments later the most terrific fight we ever heard about began."

That reminds one of a story about a pioneer editor of Brainerd who had but one pugnacious individual to handle. The lumberjack, offended about some writeup, came into the office and demanded to see the editor. The newspaperman said he was busy at the time and asked him to wait a few minutes. There was no backstairs to fly down. He gave the bibulous woodsman a comfortable seat near the hot stove and shortly thereafter the latter fell asleep and all thoughts of battle vanished.

LETTING THE WIFE KNOW ALL ABOUT IT

THERE should be a law against a husband borrowing money without the knowledge of his wife, and similar restrictions should be put on the women folk, thinks the manager of a loan association as commented on by the St. Cloud Times.

Well, now, how about that? Some of the most wonderful surprises of married life are sprung because one member of the team drives up in a new Ford, or because there is a fine gold watch on the Christmas tree.

On the other side of the slate, there is many and many a heartache because a man is found to have borrowed so deeply that the wealth he is supposed to have accumulated simply isn't there when his affairs are settled.

The making of a loan for a secret purpose without the knowledge of one's life partner, generally bespeaks distrust. And domestic discord over financial matters can have no more fertile breeding soil. The best way, after all, is for married people truly to live as one. That's what they get married for.

LACK OF COLLEGE EDUCATION

FATHERS and mothers of years ago felt their lack of a college education interfered with a greater degree of success in their lives.

But just what is education, asks the Martin County Independent in an editorial. While we believe in colleges we also believe the self-educated man or woman who learned his A. B. C.'s in the "Little Red School House," the one who burned midnight oil to gain knowledge after a hard day's work and is as truly educated as the college graduate and perhaps in the general run, more so.

Certain it is our forefathers deserve the credit for the place the United States now occupies—at the head of the educational program of the world.

R. A. HANNAH writes a story on "Minnesota Invites You" in the current Rotary magazine and in a six and a half page story ambles all around Minnesota and gives our section this line or two of regrets: "We would have liked to have had time to visit the Brainerd, Hackensack, and Walker regions with their beautiful lakes and dozens of resorts. Mrs. Hannah had never seen Lake Mille Lacs, that great body of water in central Minnesota, which, because of its size, was given the Indian name meaning 'a thousand lakes'."

"THE best place to appreciate cold water is in a place where you can not get it," says W. E. Priestley, a magazine writer. That reminds us too that about the only time we appreciate good health is when we have lost it.

THE Northwestern Bell Telephone company has commenced stringing direct wires between Aitkin and Carlton. At present Carlton connections are made by way of Brainerd and Duluth. The direct wire will be a great improvement.

SYNOPSIS

Four officers have given their lives in a week trying to break up a ring of silk bandits who have been raiding warehouses in lower New York but apparently to no purpose. The robbery continues, the bandits becoming bolder and more desperate with each stroke. Police Commissioner Leonard, determined to beat the gang at all costs, plans to concentrate the best of his men in the silk district and quarrel with Alfred Dayton, silk importer and political dictator, when Leonard threatens his job unless the robberies are halted. Leonard calls in his most experienced advisors and declared to them that nothing is to be spared in the war against the bandits.

Dad Gillen had seen them come and go. When Patrolman Gillen had the beat past St. Nicholas down to the Lackawanna pier the Hudson Dusters were terrorizing downtown New York. The Yellow Kids were the vaudeville sensations and Tammany Hall the last word in New York. Since then things have changed. Not to Dad though; he still lived in the days when he was an officer, and to him there was no honor like being one of the cops.

Ordinary people cannot realize the old man's feelings. He had given the police force the whole of his life. Every memory was wrapped up in them, and today he was as much of a policeman as the day he swore his oath of office. May he Dad was born a cop. But if he wasn't he had taken good care to preach "the cops" to young Danny Malone so that ever since Danny was a kid he had dreamed though his father wasn't a cop. To Dad a fireman was almost as good, but only almost.

Mary and Dan had grown up together, and all their lives they had taken each other for granted. Dad would have told you that Danny was going to be a cop and marry Mary, without giving the matter a thought. And the other thought the same, though Danny, less demonstrative than in his boyhood days, had so far failed to tell Mary about it.

That young person was too confident to give the matter any more attention than it deserved. . . . her trouble was that so far she didn't know much that was.

Mary worked in the offices of the Dayton Silk Mills, and that day was one of the hardest of her life. Alfred Dayton, Jr., was everything that his father was not and, as his secretary, Mary was given every opportunity to be sure of that. From the day she was hired, Mary had known that she was going to have trouble with her boss and that one day seemed to be the beginning of the end. From the beginning he had pestered her for dinner dates but had taken her refusals more or less as a matter of course. Today he was different.

In spite of the fact that the robbery had wiped out their stock of silk, and thousands of dollars of additional losses were piling up due to the delay in shipment, young Dayton seemed to be in excellent spirits. He kept her talking long after she was through with her dictation and when she finally broke away, insisted on helping her with her coat. That was all right but he took one hundred percent too long . . . and of the day when he would be one of them.

Dad wasn't worried . . . much. Things had changed a lot since the days when a ready club and good Irish blood were the chief requisites. It seemed that you had to be a scholar now before you stood a chance. As far as the athletic end of it went, Dad felt that all was okay, but the arithmetic had been left to someone else, so maybe Dad was worried.

He had put on the old uniform coat and the fore and aft helmet in order to welcome Danny, for in a few minutes at the latest, he should be here with the news either of his success or failure.

From under the bed, Dad drew out a canvas bag, and from the depths of that he pulled a long shiny black nightstick. There was enough wood in it to make at least six of the modern weapons and it handled like a feather. Dad looked at it caressingly then his fingers sought the little dent that marked the smoothness of the heavy end. What a whack that one was.

He remembered that night as clearly as the day after it all happened. Three gangmen, armed with knives and gas-pipes, had trapped him in the entrance to a ship chandler's down on the front. When it was all over, two of the gangmen were ready for the hospital and the other never did get well. Dad didn't know which particular blow had caused the dent on the club, but almost all of them were hard enough, and after that scrap Dad Gillen was left more or less alone. He had a medal in his drawer that they gave him because of it.

Mary didn't like the club. In fact it was she who had put it under the bed. It wasn't the idea of what the club had done, but that when ever her grandfather picked it up, he seemed compelled to swing it around in regular fashion . . . and the Gillen apartment wasn't laid out for that sort of sport.

Dad was afraid of Mary. She was all the world and more to him. Dad had married, but the police had taken up almost all his time and when his wife died he was just a lonely old man without much to live for. Then young Warren died, another name for the "Shield of Honor" on the walls of the Court House. Like his father Warren was a cop, and when the bullet of Gyp the Blood found a resting place in his heart, his young wife soon followed him, leaving little Mary in the charge of her grandfather.

It was then that Dad really began to be happy. On his retirement from the force he gave all his time to the care of Mary, and when she, at a very early age, began to show a decided preference for the company of Danny Malone, Dad added him to the family, even his breath smelled of liquor. Frankly Mary was worried.

She forgot all about it as she scurried up the stairs to the fourth floor. Those stairs had always been a joke. As a matter of fact, Mary always climbed them to the accompaniment of a meaningless little jingle that was far from meaningless to her. "One I love, two I love, three I love, I say, four I love with all my heart. I say, Mary had no last line, but the end was "someday," and it was of Danny that she sang.

Dad started guiltily when the door slammed open, and Mary stood in the doorway, panting for breath, and looking quizzically at the club in his hand. Mary couldn't be mad that day, and Dad saw the assurance in her eyes.

"Well, Mary girl, you're first." "Gee I'm glad, he oughtn't to be long now." And holding her cheek close to his she whispered:

"Oh, how I hope he passed, don't you Daddy?"

To Mary, as to Dad Gillen, the only hundred percent men were on the force, and, as Danny was wholly that, he belonged there too.

"Mr. Dayton kept me hours longer than he needed me," she prattled on, and Dad, his arms around her, was content to listen. "He had a lot of foolish letters that could have waited a month, and then he has the nerve to think that he gives me Saturday afternoon off."

Her shoulder was pressed against something hard, and looking for the reason, Mary really noticed for the first time that Dad was wearing his war paint.

The old warrior looked somewhat diffident so she hastened to assure him.

"I think it's lovely of you to put your uniform on for Danny, but I wish he'd come. Daddy, are you quite, quite sure he'll pass?" "He'll pass all right. He's got more reason than you think. Danny's never forgotten that Dick went wrong. That kid was in my hands, but I couldn't keep him straight, and since Dan left the army, he's been looking for the kid. Guess he feels that he'll have a better chance of spotting him when he's in the cops."

"I never did like Dick," burst out the girl.

"That's all right," Dad answered, "but he was in my care, and I fell down. Maybe that's what makes Dan keep quiet about things that I know he wants to do."

Mary blushed, for she knew her grandfather's choicest dream was to see she and Danny married, but she hid her blushes under her vigorous defence of him.

"Why, Daddy, I think you're silly. Danny knows as well as I do that you did your best for Dick. Both you and Danny did all you could. He's just naturally bad or he'd never have run away."

STATE TAXPAYER'S BURDEN YEARLY GROWING HEAVIER

ABSTRACT OF COUNTY TAX LISTS BY THE STATE AUDITOR

TOTAL TAX LEVIED IN 1927 IS LARGEST IN HISTORY OF STATE

St. Paul, March 28.—(UP)—Although taxes for state purposes show a downward trend, the Minnesota taxpayer's burden is becoming heavier, an abstract of county tax lists compiled by the state auditor's office revealed today.

The total tax levied in 1927, which is now payable, totals $129,998,170—the largest in the history of the state. This is an increase of $7,037,975 over 1926 and $4,046,683 over 1925. It is $3,480,178 more than the previous record of $126,517,993 in 1923.

The 1927 levy for state, county, city and village, township and school district purposes also represents the highest average tax rate in the history of the state. The date was 62.16 mills, an increase of 3.76 mills over 1926.

While the state tax levies have shown a consistent downward trend since 1923, all other civic subdivisions have shown increases.

Comparing the total tax levies of 1927 with 1925, the following increases are shown: counties, $1,459,968; cities and villages, $1,793,092; townships $536,854; school districts, $361,563—a total increase of $4,151,477.

In this same two-year period, the tax levy for purely state purposes showed a decrease of $104,795.

FALL SPEAKS OF TEAPOT DOME LEASE

WAS MOST FINANCIALLY ADVANTAGEOUS DEAL MADE FOR GOVERNMENT

EL PASO POST SECURES INTERVIEW FROM FORMER CABINET OFFICER

El Paso, Texas, March 28.—(UP)—The Teapot Dome naval oil lease was the most financially advantageous deal ever made for the government, Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior, declared here today, according to a copyrighted story in the El Paso Post, a Scripps-Howard newspaper.

The interview with Fall was obtained by Chester Chope, staff representative of the Post, as Fall prepared to make his deposition to be used in the conspiracy trial of Harry F. Sinclair, millionaire oil man in Washington, D. C.

Its contents were regarded as a foresight into the story the former cabinet official will tell attorneys representing Sinclair and the government.

In an affidavit, Atty. Ragland of the Sinclair legal staff, recently said Fall would testify that he had made what he thought was a government bargain, that he did not favor Sinclair and that bonds Sinclair had sent him were not intended to be a bribe but to be payment for one-third interest in Fall's Tres-Rios ranch in New Mexico.

"I haven't seen Ragland's affidavit but I presume it is correct," Fall said. "A geological survey had said that oil in the Teapot Dome naval reserve was sealed off by water and was in no danger of being drained by seepage," Fall continued.

"In a desire to protect the government, I sought the advice of men whom I considered the best experts available. They said there was no danger of seepage. And later findings proved that they were correct."

"It was then that I set out to save the oil and I made what I considered a good deal for the government."

"They say I suppressed news about lease to favor Sinclair. But there were others who knew about it. There was nothing to hide. Since then men have testified that they would not have offered the government what Sinclair did."

Fall's statement, according to the copyrighted interview, that "others knew about" the lease deal is in line with Ragland's statement that Fall will testify he reluctantly assented to an executive order at the insistence of President Harding, which enabled Sinclair to lease the oil reserve.

Browning's Geese

In his last London garden Browning kept a pair of geese, which he called Edinburgh and Quarterly, after that pair of vociferous magazines. Critics, he said, are human geese. They can only cackle when benevolent, and hiss when malicious. He would admit, though, that the critical pond harbors other fowl. Occasionally thereon a duck dives adroitly and brings up a trophy, a swan swims gracefully to the point—Frances Theresa Russell, in "One Word More on Browning."

IOWA OUT OF THE MUD

SOME years ago middlewestern fans attended a football game and on the way home it rained in Iowa. The result was gumbo mud in disheartening quantities and a line of cars, miles and miles in length, mired and their owners took to farm houses and barns awaiting a chance to dig out their cars.

At that time Minnesota was far beyond Iowa in the matter of good roads. Today we look at Iowa in amazement. They are so far ahead of Minnesota plans that all we can do is to gasp and wonder if we shall ever catch up.

Iowa people are to vote on a $100,000,000 road bond plan at the general election next November. The proposed plan, if adopted by the voters, will give Iowa 4,933 miles of paved highway and permit grading and graveling the remaining 1,732 miles in the state system. It is expected that this work will be finished within six years. Thus the present generation will have a chance to use these roads. It will give Iowa a primary road system adequate to carry the traffic for many years to come. Gasoline and license taxes will all go into a fund to retire the bonds, except the amount which is needed each year for maintenance.

Iowa already has let contracts for 630 miles of paving, 500 miles of grading and 307 miles of graveling for the season of 1928, to be financed with county bonds.

No more pitying smiles for Iowa, no more comments about gumbo roads. The state we pitied is now out-stripping Minnesota in good roads.

HOWE KNEW HOW

E. W. HOWE, a nationally known reporter, and who worked on the Atesion Globe as far back as 1878, relates an incident showing the fertility of mind and resourcefulness of a newspaper man when facing great odds.

"Last night a large man with a squint in his eye came into this office and inquired if the editor was in. We were alone, and he was an exceedingly large man—and there was a certain nervousness about his manner of speech that we didn't like.

"So we said the editor wasn't in but we would step downstairs and call him. He dropped in a chair, and we went down stairs. On the stairs we met another very large man, who had the same nervousness in his speech. He wanted to know if the editor was upstairs. We told him the editor was upstairs reading a paper and was exceedingly cross.

"He went into the office—and in a few moments later the most terrific fight we ever heard about began."

That reminds one of a story about a pioneer editor of Brainerd who had but one pugnacious individual to handle. The lumberjack, offended about some writup, came into the office and demanded to see the editor. The newspaperman said he was busy at the time and asked him to wait a few minutes. There was no backstairs to fly down. He gave the bibulous woodsman a comfortable seat near the hot stove and shortly thereafter the latter fell asleep and all thoughts of battle vanished.

LETTING THE WIFE KNOW ALL ABOUT IT

THERE should be a law against a husband borrowing money without the knowledge of his wife, and similar restrictions should be put on the women folk, thinks the manager of a loan association as commented on by the St. Cloud Times.

Well, now, how about that? Some of the most wonderful surprises of married life are sprung because one member of the team drives up in a new Ford, or because there is a fine gold watch on the Christmas tree.

On the other side of the slate, there is many and many a heartache because a man is found to have borrowed so deeply that the wealth he is supposed to have accumulated simply isn't there when his affairs are settled.

The making of a loan for a secret purpose without the knowledge of one's life partner, generally bespeaks distrust. And domestic discord over financial matters can have no more fertile breeding soil. The best way, after all, is for married people truly to live as one. That's what they get married for.

LACK OF COLLEGE EDUCATION

FATHERS and mothers of years ago felt their lack of a college education interfered with a greater degree of success in their lives.

But just what is education, asks the Martin County Independent in an editorial. While we believe in colleges we also believe the self-educated man or woman who learned his A. B. C.'s in the "Little Red School House," the one who burned midnight oil to gain knowledge after a hard day's work and is as truly educated as the college graduate and perhaps in the general run, more so.

Certain it is our forefathers deserve the credit for the place the United States now occupies—at the head of the educational program of the world.

R. A. HANNAH writes a story on "Minnesota Invites You" in the current Rotary magazine and in a six and a half page story ambles all around Minnesota and gives our section this line or two of regrets: "We would have liked to have had time to visit the Brainerd, Hackensack, and Walker regions with their beautiful lakes and dozens of resorts. Mrs. Hannah had never seen Lake Mille Lacs, that great body of water in central Minnesota, which, because of its size, was given the Indian name meaning 'a thousand lakes'."

"THE best place to appreciate cold water is in a place where you can not get it," says W. E. Priestley, a magazine writer. That reminds us too that about the only time we appreciate good health is when we have lost it.

THE Northwestern Bell Telephone company has commenced stringing direct wires between Aitkin and Carlton. At present Carlton connections are made by way of Brainerd and Duluth. The direct wire will be a great improvement.

WHEN a country weekly gets prosperous with a large run of advertisements, the latter generally crowd out the editorial page.

A SURE way to put your town on the toboggan, says the Baudelette Region, is to send most of your money out of it.

Ordinary people cannot realize the old man's feelings. He had given the police force the whole of his life. Every memory was wrapped up in them, and today he was as much of a policeman as the day he swore his oath of office. Maybe Dad was born a cop. But if he wasn't he had taken good care to preach "the cop" to young Danny Malone so that ever since Danny was a kid he had dreamed though his father wasn't a cop. To Dad a dream was almost as good, but only almost.

Mary and Dan had grown up together, and all their lives they had taken each other for granted. Dad would have told you that Danny was going to be a cop and marry Mary, without giving the matter a thought. And the other thought the same, though Danny, less demonstrative than in his boyhood days, had so far failed to tell Mary about it.

That young person was too confident to give the matter any more attention than it deserved. . . . her trouble was that so far she didn't know much that was.

Mary worked in the offices of the Dayton Silk Mills, and that day was one of the hardest of her life. Alfred Dayton, Jr., was everything that his father was not and, as his secretary, Mary was given every opportunity to be sure of that. From the day she was hired, Mary had known that she was going to have trouble with her boss and that one day seemed to be the beginning of the end. From the beginning he had pestered her for dinner dates but had taken her refusals more or less as a matter of course. Today he was different.

In spite of the fact that the robbery had wiped out their stock of silk, and thousands of dollars of additional losses were piling up due to the delay in shipment, young Dayton seemed to be in excellent spirits. He kept her talking long after she was through with her dictation and when she finally broke away, insisted on helping her with her coat. That was all right but he took one hundred percent too long. . . . and of the day when he would be one of them.

Dad wasn't worried. . . . much. Things had changed a lot since the days when a ready club and good Irish blood were the chief requisites. It seemed that you had to be a scholar now before you stood a chance. As far as the athletic end of it went, Dad felt that all was okay, but the arithmetic had been left to someone else, so maybe Dad was worried.

He had put on the old uniform coat and the fore and aft hat in order to welcome Danny for in a few minutes at the latest, he should be here with the news either of his success or failure.

From under the bed, Dad drew out a canvas bag, and from the depths of that he pulled a long shiny black nightstick. There was enough wood in it to make at least six of the modern weapons and it handled like a feather. Dad looked at it caressingly then his fingers sought the little dent that marked the smoothness of the heavy end. What a whack that one was.

He remembered that night as clearly as the day after it all happened. Three gangsters, armed with knives and gas-pipes, had trapped him in the entrance to a ship chandler's down on the front. When it was all over, two of the gangsters were ready for the hospital and the other never did get well. Dad didn't know which particular blow had caused the dent on the club, but almost all of them were hard enough, and after that scrap Dad Gillen was left more or less alone. He had a medal in his drawer that they gave him because of it.

Mary didn't like the club. In fact it was she who had put it under the bed. It wasn't the idea of what the club had done, but that when ever her grandfather picked it up, he seemed compelled to swing it around in regular fashion. . . . and the Gillen apartment wasn't laid out for that sort of sport.

Dad was afraid of Mary. She was all the world and more to him. Dad had married, but the police had taken up almost all his time and when his wife died he was just a lonely old man without much to live for. Then young Warren died, another name for the "Shield of Honor" on the walls of the Court House. Like his father Warren was a cop, and when the bullet of Gyp the Blood found a resting place in his heart, his young wife soon followed him, leaving little Mary in the charge of her grandfather.

It was then that Dad really began to be happy. On his retirement from the force he gave all his time to the care of Mary, and when she, at a very early age, began to show a decided preference for the company of Danny Malone, Dad added him to the family, even his breath smelled of liquor. Frankly Mary was worried.

She forgot all about it as she scurried up the stairs to the fourth floor. Those stairs had always been a joke. As a matter of fact, Mary always climbed them to the accompaniment of a meaningless little jingle that was far from meaningless to her. "One I love, two I love, three I love, I say, four I love with all my heart. . . ." Mary had no last line, but the end was "someday," and it was of Danny that she sang.

Dad started guiltily when the door slammed open, and Mary stood in the doorway, panting for breath, and looking quizzically at the club in his hand. Mary couldn't be mad that day, and Dad saw the assurance in her eyes.

"Well, Mary girl, you're first," "Gee I'm glad, he oughtn't to be long now." And holding her cheek close to his she whispered: "Oh, how I hope he passed, don't you Daddy?"

To Mary, as to Dad Gillen, the only hundred percent men were on the force, and, as Danny was wholly that, he belonged there too.

"Mr. Dayton kept me hours longer than he needed me," she prattled on, and Dad, his arms around her, was content to listen. "He had a lot of foolish letters that could have waited a month, and then he has the nerve to think that he gives me Saturday afternoon off."

Her shoulder was pressed against something hard, and looking for the reason, Mary really noticed for the first time that Dad was wearing his war paint.

The old warrior looked somewhat diffident so she hastened to assure him.

"I think it's lovely of you to put your uniform on for Danny. . . . but I wish he'd come. Daddy, are you quite sure he'll pass?" "He'll pass all right. He's got more reason than you think. Danny's never forgotten that Dick went wrong. That kid was in my hands, but I couldn't keep him straight, and since Dan left the army, he's been looking for the kid. Guess he feels that he'll have a better chance of spotting him when he's in the cops."

"I never did like Dick," burst out the girl.

"That's all right," Dad answered, "but he was in my care, and I fell down. Maybe that's what makes Dan keep quiet about things that I know he wants to do."

Mary blushed, for she knew her grandfather's choicest dream was to see her and Danny married, but she hid her blush under her vigorous defence of him.

"Why, Daddy, I think you're silly. Danny knows as well as I do that you did your best for Dick. Both you and Danny did all you could. He's just naturally bad or he'd never have run away." (To be continued.)

STATE TAXPAYER'S BURDEN YEARLY GROWING HEAVIER

ABSTRACT OF COUNTY TAX LISTS BY THE STATE AUDITOR

TOTAL TAX LEVIED IN 1927 IS LARGEST IN HISTORY OF STATE

St. Paul, March 28.—(UP)—Although taxes for state purposes show a downward trend, the Minnesota taxpayer's burden is becoming heavier, an abstract of county tax lists compiled by the state auditor's office revealed today.

The total tax levied in 1927, which is now payable, totals $129,998,170—the largest in the history of the state. This is an increase of $7,037,975 over 1926 and $4,046,683 over 1925. It is $3,480,178 more than the previous record of $126,517,993 in 1923.

The 1927 levy for state, county, city and village, township and school district purposes also represents the highest average tax rate in the history of the state. The rate was 62.16 mills, an increase of 3.76 mills over 1926.

While the state tax levies have shown a consistent downward trend since 1923, all other civic subdivisions have shown increases.

Comparing the total tax levies of 1927 with 1925, the following increases are shown: counties, $1,459,968; cities and villages, $1,793,992; townships $536,854; school districts, $361,563—a total increase of $4,151,417.

In this same two-year period, the tax levy for purely state purposes showed a decrease of $104,795.

FALL SPEAKS OF TEAPOT DOME LEASE

WAS MOST FINANCIALLY ADVANTAGEOUS DEAL MADE FOR GOVERNMENT

EL PASO POST SECURES INTERVIEW FROM FORMER CABINET OFFICER

El Paso, Texas, March 28.—(UP)—The Teapot Dome naval oil lease was the most financially advantageous deal ever made for the government, Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior, declared here today, according to a copyrighted story in the El Paso Post, a Scripps-Howard newspaper.

The interview with Fall was obtained by Chester Chope, staff representative of the Post, as Fall prepared to make his deposition to be used in the conspiracy trial of Harry F. Sinclair, millionaire oil man in Washington, D. C.

His contents were regarded as a foreboding into the story the former cabinet official will tell attorneys representing Sinclair and the government.

In an affidavit, Atty. Ragland of the Sinclair legal staff, recently said Fall would testify that he had made what he thought was a government bargain, that he did not favor Sinclair and that bonds Sinclair had sent him were not intended to be a bribe but to be payment for one-third interest in Fall's Tres-Rios ranch in New Mexico.

"I haven't seen Ragland's affidavit but I presume it is correct," Fall said.

"A geological survey had said that oil in the Teapot Dome naval reserve was sealed off by water and was in no danger of being drained by seepage," Fall continued.

"In a desire to protect the government, I sought the advice of men whom I considered the best experts available. They said there was no danger of seepage. And later findings proved that they were correct."

"It was then that I set out to save the oil and I made what I considered a good deal for the government."

"They say I suppressed news about lease to favor Sinclair. But there were others who knew about it. There was nothing to hide. Since then men have testified that they would not have offered the government what Sinclair did."

Fall's statement, according to the copyrighted interview, that "others knew about" the lease deal is in line with Ragland's statement that Fall will testify he reluctantly assented to an executive order at the insistence of President Harding, which enabled Sinclair to lease the oil reserve.

Browning's Geese

In his last London garden Browning kept a pair of geese, which he called Edinburgh and Quarterly, after that pair of volubrious magazines. Critics, he said, are human geese. They can only cackle when benevolent, and hiss when malicious. He would admit, though, that the critical pond harbors other fowl. Occasionally thereon a duck dives adroitly and brings up a trophy, a swan swims gracefully to the point.—Frances Theresa Russell, in "One Word More on Browning."

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE SIGNS RADIO BILL

Washington, March 28.—(UP)—President Coolidge today signed the radio bill extending the Federal Radio commission's authority for one year and providing for the equitable allocation of broadcasting power and wave lengths among stations in the five radio zones.

At the same time the commission ordered all licenses covering postal, point-to-point, technical, training, experimental, ship and amateur radio transmitting stations to expire automatically August 31.

These licenses had been extended indefinitely pending the commission's allocation of wave lengths to broadcasting stations. The commission now feels it can apply its time to straightening out the situation among radio transmitting stations.

DEATH OVERTAKES
JAMES O'DOWD, 72

Generous Hearted Caretaker of
Lawns, Furnaces, Passed Away
at City Home

HAS NO RELATIVES LIVING
Said to Have Become Poor by Giving
All His Money to Families in
Harder Straits

James O'Dowd, the generous hearted old fellow who tended furnaces, cleaned up lawns and did odd jobs about the city of Brainerd for years, is dead. He passed away last evening at the city home in Northeast Brainerd where he had been cared for by the city poor officials, at the age of 72 years.

Mr. O'Dowd had been ill for over a year. The city started taking care of him in February, 1927, and members of the poor committee of the city council and those in charge at the city home have remarked that he was one of the best city charges they had.

The story of Mr. O'Dowd's life is sad. It is said that at one time he had saved sufficient money to care for himself in his old age. Seeing other people in harder straits than himself he had given away practically all his money to them. Later when he became older his debtors had refused to repay him. In spite of several handicaps, Mr. O'Dowd maintained a cheerful aspect towards life. He was witty and enjoyed telling humorous stories.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed. No living relatives of Mr. O'Dowd are known.

A new family, whose name we have not learned at this writing, has moved on the Rardin farm.

The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fleischacker died just recently. It was about one week old. The community extends its sympathy to the bereaved family.

Quite a number of folks gathered at the school house of District No. 18 last Saturday night, when our county agent, Mr. Roth explained the boys and girls club projects and enrolled those who wished to join and Geo. E. Butler, president of the Farm Bureau gave a talk on what the Farm Bureau is doing. Quite a number joined the Farm Bureau. The Lions club quartet sang a number of songs which were surely enjoyed by everyone. The Lions quartet was accompanied by Miss Drexler of Brainerd who is surely a wonderful pianist. A delicious lunch was served at midnight by the men, the ladies think that's the ideal way to serve lunches.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Lutes and Marie Anne and Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Britton and Enoch Swanson were all Brainerd visitors Monday.

Bert Rouse was in town Monday. It is reported that Mr. and Mrs. Sam Rardin and family are coming back from Canada to make their home again in Minnesota.

TRAPPING LICENSES MOUNT

Open Season for Muskrats Marks
Considerable Increase in Number of Licenses

The open season for muskrats in the state of Minnesota this year has been the real reason for the large increase noted this season in the number of trapping licenses taken out, Henry A. Krause, assistant county auditor, stated this morning.

To date this season 675 trapping licenses have been taken out at the office of the county auditor. The majority of these were issued since the first of the year. The license costs one dollar each.

"WHAT'S WRONG WITH BRAINERD?"

Topic Discussed at Christian Life
Mission at First Baptist Church

REV. DAMON'S VIEWS

Evangelist Edgar A. Valiant Gives
His Idea of Real Root
of Trouble

The question "What's Wrong with Brainerd?" received stimulating discussion in the Christian Life Mission at the First Baptist church last evening. The pastor, Harold P. Damon said, "It is hard to discuss such a question as this about such a city as Brainerd. Yet in spite of all the good things that may be said, it must be confessed that it needs to be discussed. The thing that is wrong is not too many churches, not social conditions, not economic maladjustments, but lack of grasping the inner heart of Christian teaching. We have been too content with the outward form and the outer shell without grasping the inner life."

Edgar A. Valiant, in his discussion of this subject, stated, "The real root of the trouble lies in the fact that we call Jesus 'Lord' and yet do not do the things which he says to us. We cannot close our eyes to the fact that there is lawlessness and godlessness, but the real fault lies inside the door, not outside, of the churches. If we could have one year in which every Christian in Brainerd would not only call Jesus their Master, but would walk in His way and do His will, we would have a completely different city."

"The Sin of the Home" will be the subject of Mr. Valiant's sermon this evening. It will be Family Night and he will present a beautiful copy of the Word of God to the largest family present. He urges all families to sit together as far as possible. The boys' and girls' meeting will be held at 7 o'clock. All are urged to attend.

DOG LICENSES DUE APRIL 1

Become Delinquent May 1; 300 Dogs
Estimated in City of Brainerd

A dog is born in Brainerd with a tax. It amounts to practically this since no dog or puppy is exempt from a license, age being no barrier. The tax is, male, $2; female, $3.

Dog licenses come due on April 1 and delinquent May 1, according to Mrs. S. Englund, deputy city clerk, who will have charge of issuing of licenses. It is estimated that there are about 300 dogs in this city.

DEATH OVERTAKES JAMES O'DOWD, 72

Generous Hearted Caretaker of
Lawns, Furnaces, Passed Away
at City Home

HAS NO RELATIVES LIVING

Said to Have Become Poor by Giving
All His Money to Families in
Harder Straits

James O'Dowd, the generous hearted old fellow who tended furnaces, cleaned up lawns and did odd jobs about the city of Brainerd for years, is dead. He passed away last evening at the city home in Northeast Brainerd where he had been cared for by the city poor officials, at the age of 72 years.

Mr. O'Dowd had been ill for over a year. The city started taking care of him in February, 1927, and members of the poor committee of the city council and those in charge at the city home have remarked that he was one of the best city charges they had.

The story of Mr. O'Dowd's life is sad. It is said that at one time he had saved sufficient money to care for himself in his old age. Seeing other people in harder straits than himself he had given away practically all his money to them. Later when he became older his debtors had refused to repay him. In spite of several handicaps, Mr. O'Dowd maintained a cheerful aspect towards life. He was witty and enjoyed telling humorous stories.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed. No living relatives of Mr. O'Dowd are known.

DAGGETT BROOK

Mrs. Robert Sinclair of Canada is visiting at the home of her parents for a while.

A new family, whose name we have not learned at this writing, has moved on the Rardin farm.

The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fleischacker died just recently. It was about one week old. The community extends its sympathy to the bereaved family.

Quite a number of folks gathered at the school house of District No. 18 last Saturday night, when our county agent, Mr. Roth explained the boys and girls club projects and enrolled those who wished to join and Geo. E. Butler, president of the Farm Bureau gave a talk on what the Farm Bureau is doing. Quite a number joined the Farm Bureau. The Lions club quartet sang a number of songs which were surely enjoyed by everyone. The Lions quartet was accompanied by Miss Drexler of Brainerd who is surely a wonderful pianist. A delicious lunch was served at midnight by the men, the ladies think that's the ideal way to serve lunches.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Lutes and Marie Anne and Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Britton and Enoch Swanson were all Brainerd visitors Monday.

Bert Rouse was in town Monday. It is reported that Mr. and Mrs. Sam Rardin and family are coming back from Canada to make their home again in Minnesota.

TRAPPING LICENSES MOUNT

Open Season for Muskrats Marks
Considerable Increase in Number of Licenses

The open season for muskrats in the state of Minnesota this year has been the real reason for the large increase noted this season in the number of trapping licenses taken out. Henry A. Krause, assistant county auditor, stated this morning.

To date this season 675 trapping licenses have been taken out at the office of the county auditor. The majority of these were issued since the first of the year. The license costs one dollar each.

"WHAT'S WRONG WITH BRAINERD?"

Topic Discussed at Christian Life
Mission at First Baptist Church

REV. DAMON'S VIEWS

Evangelist Edgar A. Valiant Gives
His Idea of Real Root
of Trouble

The question "What's Wrong with Brainerd?" received stimulating discussion in the Christian Life Mission at the First Baptist church last evening. The pastor, Harold F. Damon said, "It is hard to discuss such a question as this about such a city as Brainerd. Yet in spite of all the good things that may be said, it must be confessed that it needs to be discussed. The thing that is wrong is not too many churches, not social conditions, not economic maladjustments, but lack of grasping the inner heart of Christian teaching. We have been too content with the outward form and the outer shell without grasping the inner life."

Edgar A. Valiant, in his discussion of this subject, stated, "The real root of the trouble lies in the fact that we call Jesus 'Lord' and yet do not do the things which he says to us. We cannot close our eyes to the fact that there is lawlessness and godlessness, but the real fault lies inside the door, not outside of the churches. If we could have one year in which every Christian in Brainerd would not only call Jesus their Master, but would walk in His way and do His will, we would have a completely different city."

"The Sin of the Home" will be the subject of Mr. Valiant's sermon this evening. It will be Family Night and he will present a beautiful copy of the Word of God to the largest family present. He urges all families to sit together as far as possible. The boys' and girls' meeting will be held at 7 o'clock. All are urged to attend.

BALL MEETINGS HERALD EARLY START

MANAGERS OF FOUR TEAMS DOPE OUT SEASON TONIGHT

REVIEW THE CLEVELAND INDIANS

BASEBALL SEASON TO GET AWAY TO EARLY START, MANAGERS AGREE

KITTENBALL DEVOTEES ARE TO GATHER AT Y. M. C. A. TOMORROW NIGHT

Spring, sand lot practices, sore arms, colds, kittenball and baseball. It's in the air and the sporting moguls of Brainerd are preparing for it all and a big season of sport.

Starting out the pre-baseball season in earnest, baseball managers of four teams, the Y. M. C. A., I. O. O. F., Northeast and South Side will gather around the round table in the "Y" committee rooms tonight to work out the season's prospects on paper. They will be thoroughly discussed and definite arrangements will be made for an early start in the city league.

And tomorrow evening that fore-runner of summer, kittenball, will be the topic for discussion and action at a meeting in the Y. M. C. parlors when representatives from all kittenball teams will gather. Enthusiasm has reached an early impetus due to the balmy weather. The American Railway Express Company has already tried out their wares in the back lot stamping grounds.

Representatives from last year's teams and any new prospective teams are invited to attend tomorrow evening, at which time officers will be elected and dates selected to start the league. Among the teams proposed this season are: O'Brien Mercantile Co., N. P. Shpos, Nash-Finch Co., Brainerd Firemen, John Bye Co., J. C. Penney Co., store room department of N. P. and the American Railway Express.

"I guess things can be fixed up," Rickard added.

He had previously said it would be impossible to name a challenger immediately.

PECKINPAUGH STARTS 1ST TRY AS MANAGER

HAS NO CHAMPIONSHIP ASPIRATIONS FOR HIS TEAM CHARGES

MAY FINISH A NOTCH HIGHER THAN 4TH PLACE IF EVERYTHING GOES GOOD

Following is the fifth of a series of United Press interviews with major league managers. Today: Roger Peckinpaugh, Cleveland Indians. Tomorrow: Connie Mack, Philadelphia Athletics.

(Copyright, 1923, by United Press)
New Orleans, La., March 28.—Roger Peckinpaugh starting his first season as manager, hasn't any championship aspirations for his highly-financed Cleveland Indians. He told the United Press today that he would be satisfied if the Indians finished in fifth place.

"However, if George Uhle has a good year and the gaps are plugged at third base and in center field, the Indians might finish one notch higher in fourth place," Peckinpaugh said.

"We are starting out with a new third baseman in Hodapp and a rookie, Eddie Morgan, in centerfield. If these two boys come through with flying colors as major leaguers, we might have a much stronger team than anybody thinks we'll have."

The Indians' catching staff of Luke Sewell, Glenn Myatt and Martin Autfy, Peckinpaugh believes, is the best in the American League.

If Uhle does a comeback, Peckinpaugh has no fears of his pitching staff which includes Willis Hudlin, Joe Shauter, Walter Miller, Emil Leisen, Garland Buckeye and three newcomers, Collard, Bayne and Bolton.

"We have plenty of hitting strength," Peckinpaugh said, "and as wholehearted a spirit as any team ever started with."

Peckinpaugh is building for 1923 and expects several of this year's crop of rookies to step into regular berths next season.

The new owners of the club, headed by Alva Bradley, form one of the wealthiest syndicates in baseball and are anxious to give Cleveland a winning team. They hope to swing several deals next winter which will strengthen the Indians for the 1923 bid for the pennant.

Billy Evans, who learned his baseball as an umpire and holds the unique position of general manager of the club, thinks the Indians have a good chance to finish fifth.

"We have one thing, at least," Evans said, "and that is—pull-together spirit. All the players like their new owners and are strong for Peck."

Every player on the team who signed a new contract, including the rookies, was given a substantial increase in salary and the new owners' policy has created a new spirit among the Indians.

"The Yankees should have no difficulty in winning the pennant," Peckinpaugh said in commenting on the pennant race. "Washington, Philadelphia and Detroit will be the contenders for first division berths."

"Our one chance to get into first division is for Detroit to falter. I can't see any first division hopes for Chicago, St. Louis and Boston."

SERIOUS APRIL FOOL DAY FOR DELINQUENT MOTORISTS

St. Paul, March 28.—(U.P.)—Several thousand Minnesota motorists may have special reason to remember April Fool day this year.

The state highway department today issued a warning that March 31 is the last day on which 1927 motor vehicle license tags may legally be used on cars and that starting April 1, new tags must be shown on cars or the owner will be liable to arrest. The secretary of state said today he now is cleaning up the mass of applications for license which flooded his office in February, so there is no reason, the highway department reports, why proper tags cannot be displayed.

BALL MEETINGS

MANAGERS OF FOUR TEAMS DOPE OUT SEASON TONIGHT

BASEBALL SEASON TO GET AWAY TO EARLY START. MANAGERS AGREE

KITTENBALL DEVOTEES ARE TO GATHER AT Y. M. C. A. TONIGHT

Spring, sand lot practices, sore arms, colds, kittenball and baseball. It's in the air and the sporting moguls of Brainerd are preparing for it all and a big season of sport.

Starting out the pre-baseball season in earnest, baseball managers of four teams, the Y. M. C. A., I. O. O. F., Northeast and South Side will gather around the round table in the Y. M. C. A. committee rooms tonight to work out the season's prospects on paper. They will be thoroughly discussed and definite arrangements will be made for an early start in the city league.

And tomorrow evening that fore-runner of summer, kittenball, will be the topic for discussion and action at a meeting in the Y. M. C. A. parlors when representatives from all kittenball teams will gather. Enthusiasm has reached an early impetus due to the balmy weather. The American Railway Express Company has already tried out their wares in the back lot stamping grounds.

Representatives from last year's teams and any new prospective teams are invited to attend tomorrow evening, at which time officers will be elected and dates selected to start the league. Among the teams proposed this season are: O'Brien Mercantile Co., N. P. Shpos, Nash-Finch Co., Brainerd Firemen, John Bye Co., J. C. Penney Co., store room department of N. P. and the American Railway Express.

BENNETT, BALCHEN FLYING TO THE PAS

Detroit, March 28.—(U.P.)—Floyd Bennett and Bernt Balchen, pilots for Commander Richard E. Byrd, left Dearborn at 9:50 a. m., E. S. T. today for St. Paul on the first lap of a 12,500-mile trip to The Pas, Man.

At The Pas, they spend between 10 and 15 days testing, under weather conditions similar to those in the Arctic, the navigation instruments and radio apparatus of a tri-motor Ford plane, which will be used on Byrd's South Pole expedition.

Bennett and Balchen expected to reach St. Paul in six hours.

HERALD EARLY START

THE CLEVELAND INDIANS

PECKINPAUGH STARTS 1ST TRY AS MANAGER

HAS NO CHAMPIONSHIP ASPIRATIONS FOR HIS TEAM CHARGES

MAY FINISH A NOTCH HIGHER THAN 4TH PLACE IF EVERYTHING GOES GOOD

Following is the fifth of a series of United Press interviews with major league managers. Today: Roger Peckinpaugh, Cleveland Indians. Tomorrow: Connie Mack, Philadelphia Athletics.

(Copyright, 1923, by United Press) New Orleans, La., March 28.—Roger Peckinpaugh starting his first season as manager, hasn't any championship aspirations for his highly-financed Cleveland Indians. He told the United Press today that he would be satisfied if the Indians finished in fifth place.

"However, if George Uhle has a good year and the gaps are plugged at third base and in center field, the Indians might finish one notch higher in fourth place," Peckinpaugh said.

"We are starting out with a new third baseman in Hodapp and a rookie, Eddie Morgan, in centerfield. If these two boys come through with flying colors as major leaguers, we might have a much stronger team than anybody thinks we'll have."

The Indians' catching staff of Luke Sewell, Glenn Myatt and Martin Auffy, Peckinpaugh believes, is the best in the American League.

If Uhle does a comeback, Peckinpaugh has no fears of his pitching staff which includes Willis Hudlin, Joe Shaute, Walter Miller, Enfi Levens, Garland Buckeye and three newcomers, Collard, Bayne and Bolton.

"We have plenty of hitting strength," Peckinpaugh said, "and as wholehearted a spirit as any team ever started with."

Peckinpaugh is building for 1929 and expects several of this year's crop of rookies to step into regular berths next season.

The new owners of the club, headed by Alva Bradley, form one of the wealthiest syndicates in baseball and are anxious to give Cleveland a winning team. They hope to swing several deals next winter which will strengthen the Indians for the 1929 bid for the pennant.

Billy Evans, who learned his baseball as an umpire and holds the unique position of general manager of the club, thinks the Indians have a good chance to finish fifth.

"We have one thing, at least," Evans said, "and that is—pull-together spirit. All the players like their new owners and are strong for Peck."

Every player on the team who signed a new contract, including the rookies, was given a substantial increase in salary and the new owners' policy has created a new spirit among the Indians.

"The Yankees should have no difficulty in winning the pennant," Peckinpaugh said in commenting on the pennant race. "Washington, Philadelphia and Detroit will be the contenders for first division berths."

"Our one chance to get into first division is for Detroit to falter. I can't see any first division hopes for Chicago, St. Louis and Boston."
